

Travel alert: Jodie Harsh presents Circus w/ Siouxsie Sioux, Kissy Sell Out & VV Brown
Saturday 27th June

The Jubilee line is suspended for upgrade works this weekend – here are your alternatives to plan your journey to matter:

The following two options are the easiest for getting to matter from Soho / Central London following Saturday's Pride parade:

DLR and free boat shuttle: The O2 is providing a free boat shuttle service from East India DLR on nights when there is an Arena show and no Jubilee line. Boats travel every 5-7 mins from 5pm til midnight. The route will be clearly sign posted and manned by London Underground staff - please make sure you have a valid travel card, tube or DLR ticket before you travel.

Boat: The Thames Clippers run every 30mins from central London piers inc. London Bridge and Waterloo (Waterloo Pier is located directly under the London Eye).

Other options:

Tube rail replacement service: Get the Central line to Stratford and the rail replacement service to The O2, which takes approx. 10-15 minutes.

Bus: The 188 from Russell Square goes via Holborn, London Bridge & Elephant & Castle. The 108 runs to The O2 from Stratford via the Blackwall Tunnel. Both services run 24 hours.

DLR: Get the DLR to Cutty Sark and then the 188 or 129 buses which get to The O2 in approx. 5 minutes.

Car / Taxi: There is ample parking at the O2 – postcode is SE10 0DX. Taxi fares from East London via the Blackwall Tunnel are very reasonable (please note the tunnel is shut southbound on Sundays from 1am til 8am)

matter operates a 24-hour drinking license
